

Deep in the heart of the Qinling Mountains, a camera team is on the lookout (监视) for the elusive (不常见的) giant panda. These pandas live at a 1500 meters and higher. The bamboo is very thick, and the crew discovers panda droppings. At 3000 meters, the team comes across (偶然碰见) their first breakthrough when they finally see a giant panda after searching for 10 days without luck.

At birth, a giant panda is pink, nearly hairless, blind, and small enough to fit into a human hand. Female pandas have to raise their cubs alone and make sure their babies are warm, clean and fed. When winter comes, giant pandas are protected from the cold by their slightly oily fur that keeps them dry and holds in heat. If a female panda has a cub, she must search for shelter to protect her young one from the cold.

Have you ever seen a horse with toes? Millions of years ago, horses had many toes. They had four toes on each front foot and the three toes on each back foot. The horses were no bigger than cats.

These small horses lived in the forest. Their many toes helped the horses run over the soft wet ground.

It was very hot in the forest. But the weather changed. It became cold. Many trees could not live in the cold weather. The trees died and fell. Open field took the place of the forest. The sun made the ground dry and hard.

Horses began to change, too. They began to get bigger. This took a long time. On the dry hard land, horses needed only their middle toes for running. Their middle toes became hard. After a long while, horses had only one hard toe on each foot. We call this hard toe a hoof.
