

Text

Now more and more people likes pets. They have pets at home or even take them to the supermarkets.

Some pets are easy to take care of(照料), and other pets are difficult. Before you choose a pet, find out what you will have to do to take care of it.

For example, you have to walk dogs but you don't have to walk cats. You have to change the cats' litter(窝). You have to bathe dogs but you shouldn't bathe cats. They don't like to get wet.

You have to feed dogs and cats every day. You have to buy their food from the pet shops or supermarkets. And this will cost lots of money.

You also have to give them clean water. You also have to cuddle them(搂抱) them and give them lots of love whenever you are tired, sad or impatient(不耐烦的).

练习四:

"Well, we're in our new house. Let's get a new pet to get along with it," Mrs Brown said to her husband.

"That sounds like a pretty good idea," he answered. "Do you want to see the ads in the newspaper?"

"Let's go to the animal shelter. Many pets there need homes. Since tomorrow is Saturday, we can both go," she said.

Next morning the Browns met Mr. Snow at the animal shelter.

"We want to be sure that the pets here go to good homes," Mr. Snow said, "So I need to ask you some questions."

After they talked for a while, the Browns decided to get a small dog. It wouldn't need a big house or a big yard. A small dog would bark(吠) and warn them if someone tried to break into their house.

After Mr. Snow gave the Browns a book on pet care, they chose one and wanted to take her home right away. But the animal doctor hadn't checked her yet. So Mr. Snow told them to return on Sunday.

On Sunday afternoon the Browns went to the animal shelter. The animal doctor said, "Shadow has had all of her shots. She will be healthy." The browns thanked the doctor and took Shadow home.
